Charnabipur village in Bangladesh is now officially named Julia Gillard village (Julia polli). 8th of November 2010 people of these village with their Member of Parliament Mr. Choyon Islam arranged a meeting and present the great reason behind this.

Mr. Shafiqur Rahman, advisor of the program said, as we still remember the quotation of Abraham Lincoln for democracy same we need to understand the value of the statement of PM Julia Gillard. Inspiration for solving problem may come anyway from anywhere but we believe Julia Gillard's statement is able to create meaningful inspiration to those people who are struggling with their surplus people. Any revolution organized by common people never failed. History says so. Same will happen to these villagers who love and honored Julia Gillard for her noble statement. And she also added that they can't forward without that.
