

Neelanjona Tumi – Tanim Hayat Khan (Rajit)’s first ever own song

“Neelanjona Tumi” is Rajit’s first ever recorded own song. Rajit’s attempt to sing and record his first ever song. Rajit (also known as Tanim Hayat Khan) is familiar for his Sarod. He inherited his power to play Indian Classical Music from his father’s side. Rajit is the grandson of Ustad Ayet Ali Khan and Ustad Allauddin Khan and son of Musicologist Mobarak Hossain Khan.

However, in recent times Rajit also concentrated on his singing ability which he derived from his mother’s side. Rajit’s mother Fauzia Yasmin is one of the legendary singers of Bangladesh of 1960s. Rajit’s other three aunts are none other than the other three Yasmin sisters: Farida Yasmin, Nilufar Yasmin and last but not least Sabina Yasmin.

Rajit is cousin brother of Agun (Son of Nilufar Yasmin and Khan Ata) with whom he just performed afusion music in Sydney few weeks back.
